Key Decisions Not Yet Made

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Most of the major issues which faced the 1965 Legislature when it convened 15 weeks ago will still be awaiting a decision when it returns from its Easter recess next week.

Among them: the state budget, a broadened tax base, public power, education, government reorganization, health and public welfare.

The three major accomplishments of the Legislature's first 72 days in session are enactment of a legislative reapportionment act, apparent agreement on interest rates and decisions to increase most special forms of state taxes.

None Settled

However, none of the three is definitely and finally settled yet.

The reapportionment law is before a federal tribunal and may well fail its test of constitutionality. If this were to happen, and if the court chose not to settle the issue on its own, the reapportionment problem will be returned to the lawmakers for action.

The interest rate decisions have not received final ratification, but major interest bills cleared general file this week in nearly unanimous action.

Still awaiting a final reckoning in the field of special state taxes is a bill to boost the levy on liquor. The measure was killed by the Revenue Committee, but one member has promised to attempt to revive the proposal on the floor.

The Legislature has already increased the pari-mutuel horse race betting tax by one per cent; the cigarette tax by two cents a package; the beer tax by two cents a gallon, and the gasoline tax by one-half cent a gallon.

Enforcement Powers

In other tax action, senators have approved a bill which hands the state tax commissioner new enforcement powers by authorizing him, on his own volition, to withhold gasoline tax funds from counties whose officials fail to enforce tax laws.

Other major legislation already enacted includes appropriations bills for a science building at Kearney State College and to complete air conditioning of the Statehouse; tough new search and seizure laws; a new state post-conviction procedural statute, and easier requirements for consolidation of counties.

The senators have also approved reflective motor vehicle license plates; the use of centennial plates in 1966 and 1967; establishment of a land and water conservation fund, and a resolution urging a federal constitutional amendment to give the states a free hand in legislative apportionment.

Five proposed state constitutional amendments have thus far been approved for inclusion on the 1966 general election ballot.

Budget deliberations should begin next week.

Ready For Debate

Broadened tax base legislation—proposing a state income tax and a sales tax—has reached the floor and is ready for debate.

Public power proposals, including four major reorganization plans, will be the subject of special meetings of the Public Works Committee during the next few weeks.

A host of educational bills—involving state aid to public schools, state aid to junior colleges, school lands, area service units, vocational technical schools, and a consolidated board of higher education—are awaiting decisions in committee.

A proposed new Department of Administrative Services has reached the floor, but proposals to create a Department of Revenue and a state personnel service are still locked in the Government and Military Affairs Committee.

A liberalized Kerr-Mills medical care plan is on the floor and ready for debate next week, and a bill proposing expanded aid to dependent children is awaiting action on general file.

Dead

The dove bill and all proposals for state songs are dead.

But the list of major bills still unresolved forecasts a lengthening summer of legislative discontent: capital punishment, billboard control, civil rights, traffic safety, bottle clubs, annexation, taxation of intangible property, congressional reapportionment, dog racing, a state lottery, and on.

Ag Office, NU Agree On Payment

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Agreement for the payment of $98,840.84 to the University of Nebraska for seven research projects conducted for the State Agriculture Department was reached this week. The Star learned Friday.

The agresearh contracts were terminated last July by the department, which then withheld payment in disagreement over portions of the bill submitted by the University.

Agriculture Director Pearl Finigan said "full payment" will be made to the University upon receipt of an authorizing letter from the governor.

Active Hand

Gov. Frank Morrison took an active hand in agreement reached during a conference attended by representatives of the agriculture department, University and attorney general's office.

Finigan said Gov. Morrison has "approved and authorized the agreement and payment" and his department "is acting on that basis."

Dr. Joseph Soshnik, University vice chancellor, said the conference "resolved differences in interpretation" over the terminated contracts, and the University of Nebraska will pay in full for the services performed.

Equipment Returned

Under a letter of agreement being signed by both parties, Dr. Soshnik said that "certain laboratory equipment is being returned to the agriculture department."

"This equipment was purchased for the research projects with the department's funds, and the Department of Agriculture now has no further use for it," he said.

The terminated agresearh projects included research in wheat gluten, starch modification, safflower breeding, corn amylose and three separate castor bean studies—breeding, production and diseases.

The aggregate $98,840.84 payment in the bulk involves work performed in 1963 and before termination of the contracts while the remainder involves phaseout portions of the projects.

The agresearh program, administered by Finigan's department, is aimed at researching and developing more industrial and commercial uses for agricultural crops.

Soviet Rocket Delivery Due

... U2 SPOTS LAUNCH SITE

Washington (AP)—Rail and sea approaches to the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi are under close U.S. surveillance for the expected delivery of Soviet antiaircraft missiles.

U.S. officials made this known Friday shortly after the State Department disclosed that a surface-to-air-missile (SAM) site appears to be in preparation near Hanoi.

Russians in North Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey said there have been Russian personnel in North Viet Nam for some time; but there is no direct evidence, he said, that they are working on the launching site.

Photo reconnaissance planes found indications that a launching site with six launch pads, is under construction. It is understood a high-flying U2 plane first spotted the work April 5.

The State Department did not confirm the presence of SAM, but other sources noted that Moscow, Peking and Hanoi have trumpeted for months that such reinforcements would be made.

35 Miles, 100,000 Feet The SAM is a two-stage rocket that has an outward range of about 35 miles and can reach up 80,000 to 100,000 feet. They are believed to have brought down at least two U2 planes which have an operational ceiling higher than the fighter-bombers being used in the strikes against North Viet Nam.

U.S. officials have found some indication that delivery of Soviet missiles is behind schedule and may have been held up by Communist China. These sources said the 650-mile-long, single-track rail line from Canton to Hanoi provides the only direct land link for delivery of the Soviet missiles.

The rail line would be vulnerable to U.S. bombing attacks but the 33.7-foot-long SAM presumably could be airlifted in a pinch.

Careful In Assessing American officials are careful in weighing the significance of the missile development. The question is to what extent the Soviet Union will commit itself to the defense of North Viet Nam.

Some U.S. experts look upon Soviet pledges of support to Hanoi as competition with Communist China for prestige rather than an indication of Communist solidarity.

Perhaps To Red China The Russians are believed to have equipped Communist China with the high-powered antiaircraft missiles that shot down both U.S. and Chinese Nationalist U2s.

Press reports in recent weeks have indicated that the Chinese Communists have held up Soviet supplies bound for Hanoi. Within the last fortnight, the trans-Siberian railway shipments and Soviet flights to Canton were reported to be on schedule again.

Soviet complaints from Moscow charged that Peking was deliberately holding up Soviet military supplies for Hanoi, in order to advance the Chinese Communist bid for leadership of the Red bloc.

For He Is Risen . . .

French artist Max Ingrand of the Fontana Arte group depicts the Easter scene in this stained glass window in the new Catholic Cathedral of the Risen Christ in Lincoln with an angel seated on the edge of a tomb and pointing upward as he proclaims the resurrection. The brilliantly colored glass, made in Paris, has just been installed in the yet-unfinished cathedral.

Following is the story of the scene, uppermost in the minds of Christians this weekend, as it is told in the Gospel of St. Matthew, Chapter 28, verses 1-10 (Douay-Rheims version):

And in the end of the sabbath, when it began to dawn towards the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalen and the other Mary, to see the sepulchre.

And behold there was a great earthquake. For an angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and coming, rolled back the stone, and sat upon it.

And his countenance was as lightning, and his raiment as snow.

And for fear of him, the guards were struck with terror, and became as dead men.

And the angel answering, said to the women: Fear not you; for I know that you seek Jesus who was crucified.

He is not here, for he is risen, as he said. Come, and see the place where the Lord was laid.

And going quickly, tell ye his disciples that he is risen: and behold he will go before you into Galilee: there you shall see him. Lo, I have foretold it to you.

And they went out quickly from the sepulchre with fear and great joy, running to tell his disciples.

And behold Jesus met them, saying: All hail. But they came up and took hold of his feet, and adored him.

Then Jesus said to them: Fear not. Go, tell my brethren that they go into Galilee, there they shall see me.

Evacuation, Sandbag Battles Continue

By The Associated Press

Raging waters of the flooding Mississippi River and tributary streams spread over new areas Friday, causing stepped-up evacuation of lowland residents and creating new destruction.

Along a 400-mile stretch of the rampaging Mississippi from Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minn., to south of Hannibal, Mo., thousands of volunteers labored to bulwark dikes against the worst spring flooding on record.

In Minnesota, present center of the flooding, cresting of the Mississippi at record highs at Minneapolis and St. Paul was delayed until about Tuesday.

Cold Stalls Peak

The weather bureau, which earlier had forecast peak levels would be reached Friday night or Saturday, said freezing weather had halted temporarily the melting of snow and ice along the upper reaches of the Mississippi and feeder streams.

Most of St. Paul's business establishments and homes are on high ground and regarded as safe from flooding.

Reinforced and raised dikes in areas of St. Paul were reported leaking in scores of places.

Sandbag Battle

Most of Minneapolis was considered safe. Downstream, however, scores of Minnesota communities facing inundation fought the rising water with sandbagged levees.

Volunteers manning sand trucks, bulldozers and boats have come from all walks of life to help.

POSSE IS OUTLAWED; PROTECTION ORDERED

Mobile, Ala. (UPI)—A three-judge federal court Friday outlawed Dallas County Sheriff Jim Clark's posse and ordered Clark to protect Negroes involved in peaceful demonstrations in Selma.

The ruling was handed down by Judges Daniel H. Thomas, Frank M. Johnson Jr. and Richard T. Rives in a suit filed by the Justice Department.

Clark once used his mounted posse to break up an attempt by civil rights demonstrators to march from Selma to Montgomery. The march was later carried out under the protection of U.S. troops.

Clark has never revealed the number of men in the posse. The members are volunteers who provide their own horses and equipment.

Clark's posse was ordered to disband by the federal court. Clark is to provide protection for the marchers.

In Illinois and Iowa, preparations to combat the approaching flood were stepped up as predicted crests of the Mississippi were revised a foot or more above earlier forecasts.

The possibility of higher crests threatened more extensive flooding of Rock Island, Moline, and East Moline, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa, all close together.

In Davenport, between 100 and 150 families were being evacuated from their homes to the county fairgrounds. Each family was being settled in stalls usually assigned to animals, one family to a stall.

Wahoo College Named For JFK

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Wahoo — For three weeks, since the first announcement that it was being started, the new college here has been running around without a name.

Officials finally took care of that detail Friday by announcing that the name John F. Kennedy College has been approved.

President Raymond Greenhalgh made the announcement at a meeting on the Wahoo campus with newsmen and the board of trustees.

He said he had contacted Mrs. Kennedy's private secretary and received approval for use of the name. Sen. Robert Kennedy was also contacted.

First One

"To our knowledge," he said, "there are no other colleges named in his honor."

"We feel that a college, more than anything else, would be a fine tribute to him. And I think it will be rather important for Nebraska."

The college is scheduled to open to its first class about Sept. 15. A standard liberal arts curriculum will offer majors in 16 fields. Greenhalgh said.

Classes the first year will not be offered above the sophomore level. Some transfer students not above sophomore status will be admitted, the president explained, but most of the expected 250 to 250 students will enter as freshmen.

Greenhalgh also announced the appointment of Fred L. Bankus as director of admissions.

Bankus, a Parsons College graduate and currently academic advisor at the Fairfield, Iowa, school, is scheduled to assume his duties May 1.

Grant To Pay For Inventory Of Resources

Gov. Frank Morrison announced Friday that he received word from Congressman Clair Callan that a federal grant of $25,282 has been approved for the Division of Nebraska Resources to finance an inventory of the state's resources.

The project will involve the coordinated efforts of the resources division of the State Agriculture Department, the school of architecture at the University of Nebraska, and many other state agencies and departments.

Morrison stated, "This will give us needed funds to gather the facts for planning the future development of our state."

He said the funds will assist in a state inventory of existing data and talent as a determinant of how to proceed in planning Nebraska's future development.

The federal grant was allocated through the Housing and Home Finance Agency in Washington, D.C.

All Agree Congress Doing A Lot Quickly

Washington (UPI)—The 89th Congress was embarked on its annual Easter vacation Friday. Everyone agreed it had accomplished more in three months than some do in a year, but some party opinions differed on whether it was good or bad.

Democrats used such words as "historic" to describe the record so far. President Johnson called it "without equal or close parallel" in modern times.

House Republican whip Leslie C. Arends of Illinois conceded that "we're doing a lot of things." He added, though, "But I'm not sure all of 'em are good."

'Political Karate'

And House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford Jr. of Michigan said the House had been the victim of "political karate and presidential arm-twisting."

At any rate, here's the record that congressmen can reflect on while they're vacationing until April 26:

A general school aid bill, the first in history, has been enacted. There is a new economic development program for the poverty-weary Appalachian Mountain region. The House has passed—and the Senate is sure to—a massive medical care plan for the aged. The new voting rights bill is ready for early action in both the House and Senate.

'Remarkable'

Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., called this legislative progress "remarkable." He compared the first 100 days of the 89th Congress to the famous first 100 days of the 73rd, when President Franklin D. Roosevelt, under near-panic conditions, rammed much of the New Deal through to enactment.

A better comparison might be made with the 75th Congress of 1936, about which McCormack did some worrying back in December.

President Johnson's November election sweep had carried lopsided Democratic majorities into the House and Senate. The new Congress opened with 295 Democrats in the House and only 140 Republicans. In the Senate the balance was 67 to 33.

Joy Tempered

The first reaction of Democratic congressional leaders was unrestrained joy. Then they recalled 1936.

That was the year FDR set the all-time election record, both for himself and for Congress. The House that convened in January, 1937, comprised 333 Democrats, only 89 Republicans, and 13 of miscellaneous political faiths. In the Senate there were 75 Democrats, only 17 Republicans, and four other minority members.

Roosevelt backers figured the fight was all over. But it turned out that Roosevelt had already had his best luck. Having muscle to spare, the

Six Red Bridges Bombed

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—About 150 U.S. warplanes attacked six bridges in the central sector of North Viet Nam Friday and spokesmen said the strikes were a complete success.

"We got three and the Air Force got three," a Navy officer said.

Disruption of Communist traffic is one aim of the American air raids, now in their third month.

General Goal

The over-all object, as proclaimed in Saigon and Washington, is to induce Hanoi's Red regime to drop its support of the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam. Cutting of highways and railway lines could slow the flow of recruits and supplies.

Within South Viet Nam, there was action afoot.

Supported by bombers and artillery, Vietnamese troops sought to trap two Viet Cong companies in a fight about 280 miles northeast of Saigon in Binh Dinh province. U.S. military spokesmen said 51 Viet Cong were killed in the opening of this operation Thursday. Government losses were reported as one killed and 31 wounded.

67 Helicopters

A fleet of 67 U.S. and Vietnamese helicopters lifted Vietnamese troops into a jungle area of Tay Ninh province, 65 miles northwest of Saigon, the target Thursday of the biggest air raid of the war.

Long considered a Communist stronghold, the area had been hit by 230 planes which dumped 1,000 tons of bombs. The airlift helicopters landed without incident and there was no report of any contact between the troops and Red guerrillas.

U.S. Army helicopter crewmen estimated they killed 20 Viet Cong and destroyed 10 structures held by the guerrillas in a raid Thursday across An Xuyen province, at the southern tip of South Viet Nam.

Democrats forgot how to use it. With presentation of the president's Supreme Court-packing plan, the Democratic majorities flew into pieces.

It could have happened again in 1965.

Johnson's "consensus" theory of government partly explains why it has not. Johnson has limited his requests—as sweeping as they may seem to opponents—to what he thought he could get. He has not flown in the face of public opinion.

Friendly Persuasion

As for the presidential "arm-twisting" complained of by Ford and other Republican leaders, Democrats view this more as friendly persuasion.

In addition to the headline-making bills enacted so far, there has been progress in other areas.

The House and Senate already have passed, but in differing forms, a constitutional amendment to keep a vice president always on hand in case he is needed, and to assure he can take charge temporarily while the president is ill.

Poverty, Pollution, Pep

Other "Great Society" bills have moved forward in one house or both. The betting now favors passage later this year of measures to expand the antipoverty program, combat water pollution, revive the area redevelopment program and give it new money, curb illegal sale of pep pills, and cut excise taxes (probably by more than the President asked).

As always, many presidential proposals will be left for another year or even rejected. If the President asks for repeal of the Taft-Hartley section under which states can prohibit compulsory union membership—the so-called "right-to-work" provision—he may find he can't get it.

Based on past performance, he would be more likely to find that out in advance. In which case, he probably wouldn't ask for it.

That's what's meant by "consensus."

U.S. LUNAR LIFTOFF ENGINE TEST-FIRED

Las Cruces, N.M. (AP)—The engine which will lift American astronauts off the moon and start them back toward earth was fired for five seconds in its first test by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

NASA spokesman said early indications on test results were good. One spokesman described the firing as "a milestone in this country's moon program."

The 3,500-pound thrust ascent engine of the Project Apollo lunar excursion module (LEM), in which American astronauts hope to make this country's first lunar landing, was fired in a static test stand at the new $10 million LEM test facility at White Sands Missile Range.

In later tests at White Sands both the ascent and descent engines of LEM will be fired at simulated altitudes of up to 50 miles.

News Ground Rules Given

Washington (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach told newspaper editors Friday he had issued new ground rules governing pretrial disclosure of information about a defendant in federal criminal cases.

His announcement on a subject highly controversial among newsmen drew a generally warm response at a meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE).

Katzenbach described the new guidelines, which went into effect Friday, as a reasonable approach to the problem of guaranteeing fair trials and freedom of the press at the same time.

What Agents Say

The rules specify what federal authorities can tell newsmen before a defendant is tried.

Only Wednesday, the ASNE's board of directors had condemned any attempt to impose arbitrary limitations on news coverage of criminal proceedings.

Friday, Alfred Friendly, managing editor of the Washington Post and chairman of a special ASNE committee on press-bar relations praised Katzenbach's speech: "The policy the attorney general has enunciated conforms about 1,000% with the ideas we tried to put forth in our report."

That report, approved by the ASNE directors, shunned "trial by newspaper" and welcomed efforts by police and prosecuting attorneys to protect a defendant's right to a fair trial.

Opposes Blackout

But it did urge the press to oppose vigorously any bar or law enforcement regulations that would "black out large areas of information from the moment of an arrest until the beginning of a trial."

Katzenbach said the guidelines would permit release of a defendant's identity, age, address, occupation, marital status and other background information. Also available would be the substance of the charge, the arresting agency and length of investigation.

Prohibited would be any pretrial disclosure of a defendant's confession or the results of fingerprint, ballistics, lie detector or laboratory examinations.

Bar Talk On Case

Police or prosecuting lawyers would be barred from characterizing aspects of the case before trial. This, Katzenbach said, would include referring to a defendant as a "mad-dog killer" or to evidence as providing an "open-and-shut case."

There would be no restrictions on information about fugitives.

The guidelines say the Justice Department may provide photographs of defendants if a valid law enforcement purpose would be served.

The government would not prevent cameramen from photographing defendants in public places, but federal authorities would not arrange or pose such pictures.

Arrest, Convictions

Katzenbach said the rules would override some legal advice and permit disclosure of the circumstances surrounding an arrest and, he said, under newsmen's questioning, a defendant's record of federal convictions.

The guidelines are the result of a six-month study by 92 U.S. attorneys and such Justice Department units as the FBI, the Bureau of Prisons and the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Katzenbach told the editors that "it is not for us to regulate the conduct or the content of the press. We, whether in the department or in the bar, are hardly the exclusive keepers of the keys to the kingdom of justice."

All Agree Congress Doing A Lot Quickly

Washington (UPI)—The 89th Congress was embarked on its annual Easter vacation Friday. Everyone agreed it had accomplished more in three months than some do in a year, but some party opinions differed on whether it was good or bad.

Democrats used such words as "historic" to describe the record so far. President Johnson called it "without equal or close parallel" in modern times.

House Republican whip Leslie C. Arends of Illinois conceded that "we're doing a lot of things." He added, though: "But I'm not sure all of 'em are good."

'Political Karate'

And House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford Jr. of Michigan said the House had been the victim of "political karate and presidential arm-twisting."

At any rate, here's the record that congressmen can reflect on while they're vacationing until April 26:

A general school aid bill, the first in history, has been enacted. There is a new economic development program for the poverty-weary Appalachian Mountain region. The House has passed—and the Senate is sure to—a massive medical care plan for the aged. The new voting rights bill is ready for early action in both the House and Senate.

'Remarkable'

Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., called this legislative progress "remarkable." He compared the first 100 days of the 89th Congress to the famous first 100 days of the 73rd, when President Franklin D. Roosevelt, under near-panic conditions, rammed much of the New Deal through to enactment.

A better comparison might be made with the 75th Congress of 1936, about which McCormack did some worrying back in December.

News Ground Rules Given

Washington (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach told newspaper editors Friday he had issued new ground rules governing pretrial disclosure of information about a defendant in federal criminal cases.

His announcement on a subject highly controversial among newsmen drew a generally warm response at a meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE).

Katzenbach described the new guidelines, which went into effect Friday, as a reasonable approach to the problem of guaranteeing fair trials and freedom of the press at the same time.

What Agents Say

The rules specify what federal authorities can tell newsmen before a defendant is tried.

Only Wednesday, the ASNE's board of directors had condemned any attempt to impose arbitrary limitations on news coverage of criminal proceedings.

Friday, Alfred Friendly, managing editor of the Washington Post and chairman of a special ASNE committee on press-bar relations praised Katzenbach's speech: "The policy the attorney general has enunciated conforms about 1,000% with the ideas we tried to put forth in our report."

That report, approved by the ASNE directors, shunned "trial by newspaper" and welcomed efforts by police and prosecuting attorneys to protect a defendant's right to a fair trial.

Opposes Blackout

But it did urge the press to oppose vigorously any bar or law enforcement regulations that would "black out large areas of information from the moment of an arrest until the beginning of a trial."

Katzenbach said the guidelines would permit release of a defendant's identity, age, address, occupation, marital status and other background information. Also available would be the substance of the charge, the arresting agency and length of investigation.

Prohibited would be any pretrial disclosure of a defendant's confession or the results of fingerprint, ballistics, lie detector or laboratory examinations.

Bar Talk On Case

Police or prosecuting lawyers would be barred from characterizing aspects of the case before trial. This, Katzenbach said, would include referring to a defendant as a "mad-dog killer" or to evidence as providing an "open-and-shut case."

There would be no restrictions on information about fugitives.

The guidelines say the Justice Department may provide photographs of defendants if a valid law enforcement purpose would be served.

The government would not prevent cameramen from photographing defendants in public places, but federal authorities would not arrange or pose such pictures.

Arrest, Convictions

Katzenbach said the rules would override some legal advice and permit disclosure of the circumstances surrounding an arrest and, he said, under newsmen's questioning, a defendant's record of federal convictions.

The guidelines are the result of a six-month study by 92 U.S. attorneys and such Justice Department units as the FBI, the Bureau of Prisons and the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Katzenbach told the editors that "it is not for us to regulate the conduct or the content of the press. We, whether in the department or in the bar, are hardly the exclusive keepers of the keys to the kingdom of justice."

Chase Concludes Brief Freedom For Buckles

... Bullet-Filled Pursuit Follows David City Breakins

David City (AP) — Butler County Attorney John G. Tomek Friday charged Harry Buckles, 38, with felonious assault with intent to murder and 12 counts of breaking and entering.

Buckles, who was released from the Nebraska Penal Complex Thursday morning, fired pistol shots at officers in David City after he had been observed early Friday morning walking with a shotgun near a store that had been broken into.

The chase began about 1 a.m. Friday when Police Officer Ron Cudaback answered a disturbance call from Skogmo's Department Store. He found the front door broken into and a nearby resident, Mrs. Clair Wilson, said she had seen an armed man walking down the street.

Cudaback spotted the man and pursued him, calling for help when the man began dodging around the business district in an effort to evade him.

Police Chief James New-

the police chief and ordered him to walk away from the car. Newcome said he believed the man attempted to fire the shotgun but it jammed.

As other officers approached shots were fired at Deputy Sheriff Leonard Shipley and Chief Newcome from Newcome's gun. Butler County Sheriff Leo Meister and State Conservation officer Les Johnson of David City along with safety patrolmen, a Wahoo policeman and Colfax County Sheriff joined the chase.

The abandoned car was spotted northeast of town and in moments Buckles was found in a field and captured without resistance. He still had Newcome's pistol and the shotgun, which was later identified as one taken from the Zeilinger Hardware Store.

Breakins were discovered at two lumber yards, a cleaning establishment and a grocery in addition to the department store and hardware store.

GOV. MORRISON . . . unveils plaque to Kennedy.

JFK Memorial Plaque Dedicated By Morrison

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

A bronze plaque in memory of John Fitzgerald Kennedy was dedicated Friday in the State Capitol's Memorial Room by Gov. Frank Morrison.

Affixed to a marble wall in the Capitol dome, the plaque recites the Prayer of St. Francis of Assisi.

"Never in the history of this nation was there a president so endeared to people all over the world," Gov. Morris-son said in simple dedication ceremonies.

"St. Francis was a great moral spirit, and his prayer is very appropriate for the memorial plaque for John Fitzgerald Kennedy."

Gov. Morrison noted the plaque is one given to all state governors by the mayor of Moultrie, Ga., who said it "is the nation's answer to the assassin's bullet."

Gov. Morrison said he was in turn "giving the plaque to the state and to history."

Also participating was State Historical Society Director Marvin Kivett while some two dozen persons viewed the brief proceedings. Other plaques in the room memorialize Abraham Lincoln and the Grand Army of the Republic.

VFW, Advisory Group Will Tour Veteran Hospital

Dr. J. Melvin Boykin, director of the Lincoln Veterans Hospital, said Friday a special presidential advisory committee will visit the Lincoln facility May 1.

The committee will also tour other veterans hospitals scheduled to be closed this summer.

Norman D. Jones, director of the Veterans of Foreign Wars' national rehabilitation service, will make an on-the-spot survey of the Lincoln Veterans Hospital, it was also announced Friday.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., was notified of the planned inspection by John A. Jenkins, national commander of the VFW.

The Lincoln hospital is one of 11 scheduled to be closed in a VA economy program. The Nebraska congressional delegation as well as veterans, civic, and university officials are opposing planned closure.

Electric Fire Stops Power At Auditorium

A malfunction in an electrical relay panel caused an estimated several thousand dollars damage to the electrical "distributor" system at Pershing Auditorium Friday afternoon, according to the Fire Department.

The fire disrupted power to most parts of the auditorium shortly after approximately 600 persons who attended a Good Friday service had left the building.

Cudahy, Union Officials Set Monday Meeting

Omaha (AP)—The first break in a nine day stalemate that has idled the Cudahy Packing Company's Omaha plant developed Friday with the announcement that union and company officials have agreed to meet Monday afternoon.

special board meeting and discharge notices were sent to more than 1,000 employees represented by the Union.

Unemployment Benefit Eligibility Decision Pending

State Labor Commissioner Lambert Eitel said Friday that a decision is expected by the end of next week as to whether Cudahy Packing house workers will be eligible for unemployment compensation benefits.

Eitel said the Omaha office of the State Labor Department's division of employment is currently in the process of gathering facts in the case.

The Cudahy Packing Company recently sent discharge notices to about 1,100 employees of its Omaha packing plant, who are members of Workers of America Union.

"No decision has been made in the case," Eitel said Friday. "I will make a decision after the facts have been gathered."

Eitel said whatever decision he makes can be appealed by either side.

Eitel said that if it is determined that the workers are eligible for benefits, then the first benefits received would be for the week starting April 18.

Anton Armenta, president of Local 60, United Packinghouse, Food and Allied Workers, said about 11 members of the local's executive board and bargaining committee, along with some union officials from Chicago, will meet with the company.

The dispute began when several members of a clean-up crew were dismissed as part of a company efficiency study program, which has been at issue between the company and the union for several months.

Rescued Doctors Plan To Aid Indians Saving Their Lives

Chicago (AP)—A Chicago doctor returned home Thursday vowing to aid a dying South American Indian tribe which saved him, his wife and six other Americans after their planes crash-landed in the jungles of Brazil March 29.

Dr. Edward V. Stalzer, 44, his broken arm in a sling, told newsmen that the party of eight was flying back from Punta Arenas, Chile, the southernmost city in the world, when their two small planes ran out of gas.

"When we put down, both planes were destroyed," he said. "We wouldn't have made it at all if the Indians hadn't rescued us."

In the first plane to crash were Dr. Stalzer, his wife, Gisela, Dr. James Maly and his wife, Janice, of Fullerton, Neb.

Said Stalzer: "We made splints and kept our broken limbs immobilized. For three days we treated ourselves medically the best we could."

On the third day, Stalzer said, the Indians loaded the party in dugout canoes and paddled them up the Barra Do Rio Sao Manuel River to a tiny Franciscan mission at Cururu.

Father Marcos, head of the mission, sent messages by the Indians, members of the Nunuruku tribe, to a Brazilian Air Force installation.

In making his promise to return, Stalzer said, "We learned the Indians who helped us are about 2,000 in number and dying out from smallpox, tuberculosis and other diseases." He said he and his friends would return next year to set up a medical clinic and spend six to eight weeks vaccinating the Indians and treating their diseases.

"They helped us, and now it's our turn to help them," Dr. Stalzer said.

Fred Bruning, 70, Dies; Ex-Head Of State Bankers

Bruning (AP) — Fred H. Bruning, 70, longtime banker and civic leader and son of a founder of the town of Bruning, died Thursday night.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Monday at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Bruning.

He had been associated with the Bruning State bank for 53 years and Mr. Bruning was its president at his death.

He was a past president of the Nebraska Bankers Association and served many years as mayor of Bruning.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Frank L. and F. Herbert, both of Bruning; a daughter, Mrs. Warren K. Dalton of Lincoln; two sisters, Mrs. W. A. Philippi of Ohio and Mrs. John E. Hindrichs of Omaha, and eight grandchildren.

Chase Concludes Brief Freedom For Buckles

... Bullet-Filled Pursuit Follows David City Breakins

David City (AP) — Butler County Attorney John G. Tomak Friday charged Harry Buckles, 38, with felonious assault with intent to murder and 12 counts of breaking and entering.

Buckles, who was released from the Nebraska Penitentiary Thursday morning, fired pistol shots at officers in David City after he had been observed early Friday morning walking with a shotgun near a store that had been broken into.

The chase began about 1 a.m. Friday when Police Officer Ron Cudaback answered a disturbance call from Skogmo's Department Store. He found the front door broken into and a nearby resident, Mrs. Clair Wilson, said she had seen an armed man walking down the street.

Cudaback spotted the man and pursued him, calling for help when the man began dodging around the business district in an effort to evade him.

come spotted the man, but as he turned his car to question him, the man shoved a shotgun through the window of the police car, disarmed the police chief and ordered him to walk away from the car. Newcome said he believed the man attempted to fire the shotgun but it jammed.

As other officers approached shots were fired at Deputy Sheriff Leonard Shipley and Chief Newcome from Newcome's gun. Butler County Sheriff Leo Meister and State Conservation officer Les Johnson of David City along with safety patrolmen, a Wahoo policeman and Colfax County Sheriff joined the chase.

The abandoned car was spotted northeast of town and in moments Buckles was found in a field and captured without resistance. He still had Newcome's pistol and the shotgun, which was later identified as one taken from the Zeilinger Hardware Store.

Breakins were discovered at two lumber yards, a cleaning establishment and a grocery in addition to the department store and hardware store.

GOV. MORRISON ... unveils plaque to Kennedy.

JFK Memorial Plaque Dedicated By Morrison

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

A bronze plaque in memory of John Fitzgerald Kennedy was dedicated Friday in the State Capitol's Memorial Room by Gov. Frank Morrison.

Affixed to a marble wall in the Capitol dome, the plaque recites the Prayer of St. Francis of Assisi.

"Never in the history of this nation was there a president so endeared to people all over the world," Gov. Morrison said in simple dedication ceremonies.

"St. Francis was a great moral spirit, and his prayer is very appropriate for the memorial plaque for John Fitzgerald Kennedy."

Gov. Morrison noted the plaque is one given to all state governors by the mayor of Moultrie, Ga., who said it "is the nation's answer to the assassin's bullet."

Gov. Morrison said he was in turn "giving the plaque to the state and to history." Also participating was State Historical Society Director Marvin Kivett while some two dozen persons viewed the brief proceedings. Other plaques in the room memorialize Abraham Lincoln and the Grand Army of the Republic.

Day Of New Hope

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

In our observance of Easter this Sunday, the Christian world takes on a new and positive attitude. It is a church holiday in remembrance and celebration of the resurrection of Christ after His death on the cross. Its significance lies in the fact that it was the final act of God in winning for man a certain path for salvation. It was the clincher, so to speak, for the immortality of mankind.

It still left to man the matter of availing himself of the opportunity given him at the time of the resurrection but it did give him the opportunity. It gave him a new means by which to achieve the salvation he had always looked to. Thus, it gave him promise, it renewed his spirit and his dedication to the pursuit of a life of justice. It is still the same in its religious meaning today to many faiths, and man for his own benefit can expand it into his daily life. He can expand it and thereby live and work in a much more rewarding fashion than would otherwise be the case.

The fact is that we all need hope, promise and confidence if we are to accomplish anything. Perhaps in this nation, we need such things even more than the people of many other lands because ours is such a relatively young civilization. We were born and matured as a nation practically in no time at all while other parts of the world have evolved into what they are over a period of many, many centuries.

This has given us in the eyes of some people less patience than the world often demands of us. We look at a place of conflict such as Berlin, for instance, and tend to be discouraged. We consider the years since the end of World War II that this has been a trouble spot and we begin to wonder if we have not failed.

When our thoughts turn in this direction, we are in need of a little more hope, a little bit of promise. And if we look at things more closely, we can generally find that hope. A second look at Berlin, for instance, should tell us that the communists have not won anything there, either, that they are still trying, without success, to prove their system superior to that of the Western world. We can see that the communists have had to build a wall to keep their people while men and women flock in large numbers to the freedom of the West. We have not won all that we might be looking for in Europe but we have clearly had much greater success with people than has communism.

If we lose this kind of hope, we not only reap needless disappointment but we tend to give up in the future. If we had no hope in Berlin, we would cease to do much there and then we would surely suffer the loss with which we have become preoccupied. The same thing applies on the domestic and local scene. There are problems in our social, economic and political order that are disturbing to all of us and some of them have been with this nation for a rather long time. It is difficult for all of us to agree on the solution to these problems so some of them remained unsolved.

Our personal lives will often develop along the same lines. No family is completely without some conflict now and then and many of them must occasionally put up with setbacks and disappointments that are discouraging. The loss of a job, a death in the family, a serious injury or illness and other things can come along to test the strength of the most stout-hearted person.

It frequently seems that the days produce more adversity than satisfaction and discouragement is easy to come by. This not only leaves you despondent, but takes away the ambition you need to move forward, to overcome the obstacles that seem to be in front of you.

All of this is a part of the importance of Easter Sunday as a religious holiday as well as a part of our material life. Without hope, there is little light in our life at the present and much less chance of any being there in the future. With hope, your setbacks are viewed as only temporary and you go on to find new ways of attaining the goals you have established for yourself. You are encouraged to the extent that when you fail, you realize that only a little more effort is demanded of you. The really dismal way to live is to think the future is without promise.

When it dispels such a thought as that, it is no wonder that Easter is a time of prime celebration and rejoicing. At Easter we are assured that there is a purpose in every constructive act we take, that we are confined in what we can achieve only by our own personal limitations.

Rural Free Delivery

We are in the vicinity of the 69th anniversary of an important event out in this agricultural region.

It was in 1896 that Congress appropriated $20,000 to make a test of rural free mail delivery. It was a hard fought decision and the opposition had delayed it for at least two decades on the grounds that mail delivery in the country would just about break the government for a service the farmer neither deserved nor needed.

Neither of the established political parties cared for the idea principally because it was loudly sponsored by the emerging Populists. The town merchants were generally against it because they thought it would increase mail order sales, filling tills other than their own. Postmasters were definitely urban and they feared that rural delivery would depreciate their position. Big business believed in cutting down expense on everybody but themselves and daily newspapers were largely metropolitan. The bulk of the small town papers were weeklies, emphasizing only local news. They didn't want their position interfered with. They published every Thursday and if the farmer got to town at all he did so on Saturday. If he took a paper he got a reasonably fresh dish of local news. The farmer was about the only one who wanted his mail frequently and fresh. He was sick of being isolated and dealt out as far as national and political news was concerned. But it was an uphill battle. Suddenly it was won and he began to be an informed citizen.

The daily papers grew and the weeklies still flourished. The postmaster simply moved more mail. The nation benefitted even more than did the farmers. It learned that the more were kept in darkness the fewer there were in the market place. Since then it has been devoted to spreading money and enlightenment to the uttermost corners and, as a nation, has grown immensely strong and prosperous. And it made rural electrification much easier 35 years later. And that too was a great boon to our expanding economy.

Playing With Dynamite

Before the House Foreign Affairs Committee is a bill that would change the status of a large number of federal employees. It was introduced to affect the State Department but the Departments of Defense and Commerce are also seeking to come under its terms.

It would place the employees of these agencies under the Foreign Service System. The significance of this is that the employees would no longer be under Civil Service and the Veterans Preference Act. Currently, the Foreign Service System includes only top level personnel in the State Department, mainly those in executive and policy-making positions.

If the three government agencies succeed in having all their personnel changed to the Foreign Service System, there would be strong pressure to expand that system to still more agencies of government. Such a change is not without certain merit, at least in theory, but it would seem to be a dangerous step to take.

The Civil Service System would be greatly weakened by any such change and this system has served the nation very well. It was the product of patronage abuse and has successfully rid the nation of that abuse.

It would be a mistake to take action at this time that would again open the door to politics and favoritism in the hiring of the millions of civilian employees with the government. It is difficult to see how any department of government could justify total exclusion from the Civil Service System for all its employees.

This right of confrontation is guaranteed by the Sixth Amendment and so has always been available to the criminally accused in federal cases. What the Supreme Court has been doing over the past several years is to extend the various protections of the Bill of Rights to defendants in state criminal proceedings.

Supreme Court Justices Hugo Black and Felix Frankfurter became embroiled in a controversy in the 1940's regarding the applicability of the Bill of Rights to the states. Mr. Justice Black was of the opinion that the entire Bill of Rights should, without further ado, be made applicable to the states by reading it into the "liberty" of the due process clause of the 14th Amendment. Mr. Justice Frankfurter, on the other hand, maintained that only those immunities "implicit in a concept of ordered liberty" should be included. "Those fundamental principles of liberty and justice which lie at the base of all our civil and political institutions" would have to be determined case by case. Each specific provision of the Bill of Rights would thus have to be thoroughly examined to see whether or not it met the test.

Mr. Justice Frankfurter's view prevailed over Mr. Justice Black's. The result has been that the Supreme Court has gradually determined that first one and then another protection of the Bill of Rights is applicable to the states.

Need Hard Look At New CIA Chief

WASHINGTON — Admiral William F. Raborn is such a nice guy that the Senate will doubtless confirm him as chief of Central Intelligence without much debate.

I happen to like the admiral too. However, as a newspaperman I must report that since Raborn's retirement he has been steeped in exactly the atmosphere which Dwight D. Eisenhower blasted so vigorously in his last message to the American people, when, Jan. 17, 1961, he warned of a dangerous alliance between the big military complex and the big defense complex.

The big defense complex from which Admiral Raborn came—Aerojet-General Tire-Polaris—went one step beyond Gen. Eisenhower's warning and also includes radio-television and newspapers.

In addition, Rep. Edward Hebert, D-La., disclosed in a congressional probe of defense lobbying that Aerojet employed 66 admirals, generals, and other retired officers, of whom 26 gave identical, evasive answers dictated by Aerojet when asked whether they had lobbied for defense contracts. Rep. Hebert never did get a real answer on this point.

This defense contractor background of the new chief of Central Intelligence is important for the following reasons:

1. Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., has exposed some of the secret links between big business and the CIA. There have been others, including the manner in which CIA arranged for tax-free business funds to go into an anti-Israel, pro-Arab organization in the Middle East at a time when the White House was trying to keep peace in the Middle East; and how CIA siphoned corporate funds into anti-Soviet radio broadcasts through Radio Free Europe at a time when the White House was trying to improve relations with the Soviet.

2. The CIA operated through various business blinds to secretly conduct one of the worst catastrophes in recent American history—the Bay of Pigs landing on Cuba.

3. The policy of General Tire-Aerojet regarding news monopoly is directly contrary to the policy of the Justice Department.

In view of these facts, and the fact that Congress has no check on Central Intelligence, it is important for the press to scrutinize the immediate background of its new chief—even if Admiral Raborn is such a nice guy.

Smart Pointers Will Save The Traveler Many Dollars

MISSISSIPPI'S GULF COAST — Here are a few vagabond travel tips for those who already are planning this year's vacation trips:

The No. 1 rule is more important this year than ever before—make your reservations well ahead of time. No matter how often this is emphasized, some people still trust to luck, and wind up sleeping in their cars.

If, however, you don't have reservations (or are traveling on a limited budget which doesn't allow for plush tourist accommodations), swing off the main highway an hour or two before you intend to stop for the night. Check your map for a small town that isn't too much out of your way. Go there, and the odds are 10 to 1 you can get hotel or motel rooms, and at one-half or one-third the price you would have paid at a place on the main drag.

(One exceptional example dramatizes the point: Last summer, right here on the Gulf Coast, I couldn't even get a room at $16 a night on the seaward side of the highway. But I crossed over to a little hotel on the land side—no ocean view, of course—and rooms were going begging at $5 and $6.)

A few miles off any main highway can cut your lodging expenses in half—and sometimes your food costs as well.

Unless you're going the luxury route, small privately-owned motels usually are more economical than the large chain operations, although they may lack such niceties as room service. Even so, there's almost always a good restaurant within a block, and usually next door.

Travelers checks are better than cash, of course, but credit cards are even better. If you get one of the two or three almost universally-accepted ones, you can either charge your bill or most places will accept your personal check on the basis of your possession of the card.

Don't trust your maps for the best routes. There's too much new highway construction being completed. Your best bet is to ask the service-station operator, a tourist information employee or a state highway patrolman. You may save endless hours by being able to bypass cities, particularly during heavy traffic periods.

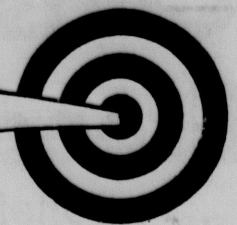

If you're a two-car family and have a choice, drive the lighter-colored one. It will stand out against the background of hills, trees and cloud horizons. The dark one will blend until the approaching driver may not realize it isn't part of the landscape, until too late.

But if you must drive a dark-toned car, leave your lights on even in the daytime. Truck and bus companies are learning they cut down their accident rate that way.

Watch your oil consumption, particularly if you're changing altitudes drastically. The family car that has never used a drop of oil since you've had it may decide that long road trips and climbing mountains is a lot thirstier job than just running back and forth to the office and the shopping center.

Judge this Legislature?

That's a difficult and dangerous task. But it is clear by now, we think, that this is a comparatively liberal legislature. The key word is "comparatively."

Salary increases have thus far rolled through committee and across the floor with little difficulty. A highway and street study costing $300,000 (some $100,000 in state funds) appears headed for easy enactment next week.

Walton

Both income and sales tax bills have reached the floor in an unprecedented departure from tradition, and everyone is freely predicting large increases in the 1965-67 state budget.

Now that is not exactly the way things used to be in the Nebraska Legislature.

A Kerr-Mills medical care plan which had a helluva time being enacted in the state in the first place has unanimously cleared committee this year in a greatly liberalized form, and will be debated on the floor next week.

A minimum wage act for firemen and policemen in cities of more than 10,000 has been approved, even though it is obviously an opening wedge for more expansive minimum wage legislation in the future.

Maximum interest rates on installment sales have been lowered to 18% from 30% in 1959, and 24% in 1963.

Sufficient money will be appropriated to complete the statewide educational television network during the coming biennium, instead of spreading the cost over two bienniums. The only argument is whether lawmakers will appropriate $2.2 million, or $2.5 million, with the additional money going to Omaha to permit its channel to beam programs outside the Omaha area.

Legislation to increase ADC assistance to the tune of $2.5 million has easily cleared committee.

Douglas County was allotted its two additional legislative districts without much of a fuss.

And senators have dared to ask the voters for permission to increase travel expenses and provide per diem expenses for themselves.

All of that is indicative of the fact that this Legislature is a brand new animal, not bound to the design etched by its predecessors, unafraid to spend money when it deems legitimate needs do exist, apparently willing to assume the political consequences of such action.

Constituents are now receiving their first extended opportunity since the session began to bring personal face-to-face pressure to bear on the lawmakers. Senators have been on Easter recess since Thursday, and most of them will be available for expressions of home-front sentiment until Wednesday.

There has been no evidence that the people disapprove of the more moderate tone of the 1965 Unicameral, despite isolated efforts to make it appear so. In fact, all efforts—and there have been many—to stir conservative revolt among the folks back home have thus far fallen flat.

It will be interesting to see if the Easter recess results in a changed legislative mood. The answer will not be long in coming—for the Budget Committee has a little present waiting for the senators when they return.

Here and there:

—Some tax-exempt organizations can take little comfort in language contained in the recent State Supreme Court ruling finding the Lincoln Woman's Club to be exempt. Wrote Justice Hale McCown: "There is no question but that it is the use of the property as distinguished from the use of the income from the property that determines whether it is exempt from taxation."

—If Frank Morrison runs for the Senate, and Phil Sorensen is a candidate for governor, Democratic leaders are hoping they can persuade Bill Norton, chairman of the Nebraska Power Review Board, to make the race for lieutenant governor.

—LB764, which would merge the wholesale activities of the Nebraska Public Power System and Consumers Public Power District by creating a single board to govern the grid system, appears now to have the votes to reach the floor of the Legislature.

—If the Legislature decides not to abolish capital punishment, perhaps it should amend the present statutes to provide for a citizen drawing to determine who pulls the switch at the Penitentiary, something similar to jury duty. Then, we all could experience an active participation in an act in which we all share common responsibility.

—Waiting. Just waiting for some senator, who may have grown weary of the dozens of dramatic references to words inscribed over the doors of the Statehouse, to arise and majestically quote the noble words etched over the west door: "Red Willow . . . Scotts Bluff . . . York . . ."

Call For Audit

South Sioux City, Neb.

It was 13 years ago when Val Peterson, then governor of Nebraska, told the annual convention of the County Assessors Association that the "taxing system of the State of Nebraska stinks!" It has gotten to the stage where this ex-assessor can smell it way up here in Dakota County.

If the Legislature would outlaw all the exemptions in taxes except churches, schools and fire departments, then value the property at its actual value, Governor Morrison would not have to raise cigarette, liquor and gasoline taxes.

Nebraska has a law that says property has to be taxed uniformly in classes. Utilities are a class composed of railroads, telephone companies, pipelines, newspapers, TV and radio, and the trucking industry, etc. All these pay taxes on their property, cars, trucks and trailers. There is electricity, also a utility. Public power, promoted by the late Senator George W. Norris, pays "in lieu of" taxes, which is only a small amount in place of taxes. They pay no taxes on their cars, trucks and trailers—just the registration fee. There is REA which pays no taxes or "in lieu of"—just the registration fee.

It is right to tax these other utilities, which pay taxes on all their property, and let REA and public power out of taxes?

We need a special auditor to audit REA and public power and publish the report as to what they earn and pay out in salaries. The public owns it and they should have the right to know what it is doing. County officials are audited. Why not REA and public power?

Segregation

Seward, Neb.

I firmly believe that in many places the colored and white people do get along, but there always have to be a few diaphanous and holier-than-thou people.

As to the parochial schools using the public school buses, I say, no. There again is segregation. If their children are so much better than the rest of the children, then they are also too good to use our buses. If there isn't any difference between the public and parochial schools, then why don't those children go to our public schools? Those people have a fit because of segregation of white and colored people. Parochial and public schools are the same thing.

To Him Who Hath

Lincoln, Neb.

The medicare plan, as proposed, will help that class which is better fixed. They can easily pay the first $40 in case of sickness. But how about those skipping along to exist on their meagre Social Security checks? They have no $40 to pay for the first cost.

This seems to be following the Scriptures, "For whosoever hath, to him shall be given, and he shall have more abundance. But whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken away even that he hath."

Lake Protection

Chicago, Ill.

"No Dope About Safety" may be no dope about safety rules, but how about the penalties for operating unprotected swimming areas?

Is he saying, in effect, that because of the rigamarole he listed as rules for water safety, there is no need for the lifeguards? How does he account for the fact that there is always extensive lifeguard protection at all legally operated bathing beaches? What swimmer in a state of panic would remember the rules?

Is he echoing what the Game Commission said, namely that users of the lakes take a calculated risk when they go swimming? Does this mean, what does an occasional drowning matter?

This is not the first time the idea of trading on human safety has been advocated on this planet. But I hope it will be the last.

If Salt-Wahoo officials and the Game Commission feel that they can operate swimming areas in Salt-Wahoo lakes on an illegal, cheap-skate basis, without lifeguard or a coast guard because they had not the foresight, the humanity, or the money to provide protection, some may find themselves with prison guards and with damage costs that will overburden a Nebraska already overburdened by wrong-headed bureaucrats who do not know what they are doing in trying to make Nebraska a lake country.

Easter Morning

Christ the Lord is risen today, Hallelujah! The Rugged Cross and the dark tomb have both been snatched from their association with death. Christmas is sanctified in Easter. Christ is risen! Heavenly love turned Dark Friday into Good Friday... an event packed with all the drama of human emotion and Divine sacrifice. He lives and we, too, shall live, in the measure in which we learn to kiss the Cross...our cross as well as His. His promise, "Three days and I shall build this temple again," has been fulfilled. It is the time for beginning again...time to start anew. Golgotha and Crucifixion take on radiant beauty when they are seen through the fragrant glory of the Easter lily. That is where the spirit was triumphant over death. So, Raise your joys and triumphs high, Hallelujah!

Population Disparity in Remap Bill Scrutinized

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Federal judges Friday raised searching questions about the margin of tolerance which they can allow in judging the population disparities contained in the 1965 legislative reapportionment act.

The new apportionment, contained in LB628 which was passed by the Unicameral and signed by Gov. Frank Morrison, was presented to the three-member federal judicial panel at a hearing in Lincoln. At issue is the question of whether the act meets U.S. constitutional requirements found in the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment.

U.S. District Court Judge Robert Van Pelt of Lincoln noted that 10 districts in the proposed new 50-member Unicameral do not come within 15% of the average district population.

Larger Than Average

The most populous district

is 267% larger than the average. Judge Van Pelt pointed out, while the least populous district is 19.7% smaller than the average.

While the U.S. Supreme Court has never suggested what margin of tolerance can be accepted in legislative apportionment, the U.S. House of Representatives is presently proposing a 15% maximum tolerance in its own representation, the judge noted.

U.S. Circuit Court Judge Harvey M. Johnson of Omaha questioned whether an acceptable margin of tolerance would permit a person in Nebraska's smallest legislative district to have "more than 1 1/2 times the voting power" of a person in the state's largest district.

Population Disparity

The disparity in the new act ranges from a high of 35,757 in Hall County to a low of 22,681 in a Sandhills district composed of seven counties.

Van Pelt also raised questions as to whether western Nebraska has "two more senators than it is entitled to" as compared to eastern Nebraska.

The third member of the tribunal is U.S. District Judge Richard E. Robinson of Omaha.

Friday's hearing produced oral arguments and supplementary evidence in the continuing reapportionment lawsuit filed in 1962. Plaintiffs include a number of mayors and individuals; intervenors are a number of labor union officials, acting as individuals.

The attorney general's office is defending the action of the Legislature.

Increased Size

LB628 increased the Unicameral's size to 50 members, adding two districts to

Smalltown Male Gripes About Gushy Gals

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. "What's your attitude toward gushy gals who call you 'darling' and 'honey' even though you hardly know 'em? We've got a couple of these characters at our club and they make me sick. Maybe I'm just a smalltown male, but I'm used to saving these terms for folks who are really special."

A. Calm down. It's just an effusive mannerism that radiates naturally from some big-hearted females. It hasn't caught on in small towns where folks are more reserved and candid. But it's well entrenched in sophisticated circles where it seems to break down social barriers and put people at ease quicker than formal forms of address.

Q. "My aunt lives in an old folks' home where each day has a different theme based on the peoples of the world, such as French, Quakers or Indians. Everyone is urged to wear some little thing suggestive of the day, and at four o'clock one of the guests gives a short talk on the day's subject. Just thought you'd like to pass the idea along."

A. Thanks. There's a great need in residences for the elderly to plan unusual things to help make each day a bit novel and different from the others. This is an excellent idea for it's simple and easy to carry out and gives guests new avenues for thought and conversation.

Q. "When are a man's powers at their creative peak? I've heard folks say it's when you're young. Others say it's when you're old."

A. Most of the world's greatest achievements came from men and women in their 30's and 40's. But wait a minute. This doesn't necessarily mean creative powers wane in later years. What often happens is that following great achievements folks lose their incentive and rest on their laurels. There's evidence we all have the power and ability for continued achievement, but we sometimes stop trying.

Q. "My wife has been dyeing her hair black for years. As I was getting tired of being taken for her elderly, white-haired father, I dyed mine black too. She threw a fit and says we're the laughing stock of the neighborhood. According to her it's freakish for a man to dye his hair."

A. Then there must be a lot of freaks around. I'd guess at least 50% of all men whose hair is graying touch it up with darkeners of one kind or another. One of the peculiarities of current society is an attitude that frowns on men fussing over their appearance. Yet men in their primitive state and up until the time of Louis XVI bedecked themselves in frills and finery and never hesitated using war paint, dyes and powder to enhance their looks.

Q. "Our neighbor is well-to-do and has two married sons. Neither son works and instead devotes himself to golf, fishing, traveling and leisure. Their dad encourages them to live this way. I've got two teenage sons and am fairly well-fixed, too. But don't you think I'm right in insisting these boys select careers and go to work when they're through school?"

A. Sure do. Most well-to-do families encourage their sons to have careers and keep constructively occupied. Such families as the Rockefellers and Kennedys set a fine example. But there are a few families which take the view prevailing in the Orient and some parts of Europe that says it's foolish to work if you don't have to. Sound arguments could probably be marshaled to support both views.

Rail Unit Reversed In Rate Dispute

For the second time in the same case, the State Supreme Court Friday reversed the Nebraska State Railway Commission in a complaint about alleged unjust discrimination in rail rates.

United Mineral Products Co. of Weeping Water appealed to the Supreme Court from a Railway Commission order dealing with joint-line rates for intrastate transportation of highway construction material.

In an earlier opinion, the Supreme Court reversed the Railway Commission order on grounds the commission had exceeded its jurisdiction. Reasons given were a defective notice of hearing and the absence of an application for authority.

The Supreme Court subsequently granted a re-hearing, however, and Friday withdrew its earlier opinion. The court held this time that the notice was ample and the application was adequate, but held that the Railway Commission should nevertheless be reversed on grounds the rates set by the commission were unjustly discriminatory.

Injury to United Mineral Products from the rates set "is undisputed," the court noted. It pointed out that the truck-competitive rates charged a competitor firm shipping limestone out of Ashland are out of line with the joint-line rates charged United Mineral Products shipping out of Weeping Water.

"In some cases, but not in this one, carrier competition is a transportation condition justifying unequal charges," the court said.

"Railroads may not reduce rates to meet competition at one point and refuse to meet it at another where the circumstances are substantially similar."

The court said railroads have pointed out that a scale of rates constructed upon the truck-competitive one would disrupt the scale for open cars.

"This dispute must be presented to the (Railway) Commission," the court said. "Our inquiry has been directed to the reasonableness of rate relationships—not to the reasonableness of a scale in a different context. Adjustment must be made by the commission."

In other rulings Friday the court:

- Affirmed the Buffalo County District Court judgment in a lawsuit disputing possession of an 11-foot strip of land along two lots in the city of Hastings.
- Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth D. Lupton brought the suit to recover possession of the strip. The district court ordered the defendants, Henry and Verna Eckel, ejected from the north one-foot of the two lots, but denied Mr. and Mrs. Lupton relief as to the remaining 10-foot strip. The Supreme Court concurred, holding that where there simply was a mistake in the description of the land when it changed hands, the instrument may be changed to conform to the true intention of the parties.

—Reversed the Keith County District Court in a suit brought by Arthur W. Campbell and others against the city of Ogallala. Challenging an order of the mayor and city council, the district court dismissed the case of technical grounds that the summons failed to notify the defendants that the petition which had been filed against them was a petition in error. The phrase "in error" was also omitted from the praecipe. But the Supreme Court reversed the judgment and sent the case back for further action.

—Affirmed the Otoe County District Court in two consolidated cases related to the estate of Henry Schutte.

Seek Bus Service Between Winner And North Platte

Valentine (M)—A temporary permit to operate a bus service between Winner, S.D., and North Platte will be sought from the Nebraska Railway Commission by the Winner Bus Line which hopes to start service by June 1.

Valentine attorney John Coupland announced the plan. The route would be via Highways 81 and 83. Towns to be served between the two main points are Stapleton, Theford and Valentine and Mission S.D.

5 Dental School Seniors Cited At Awards Luncheon

Five seniors in the University of Nebraska College of Dentistry were cited for outstanding scholastic work Friday at a special awards luncheon.

The awards were given by Omicron Kappa Upsilon, national honorary society for dentistry. The students were judged on high academic standing, skill in their specific field of study and character.

They are Jerry D. Fuller, Scottsdale, Ariz.; James A. Henander, Danville, Calif.; Eugene E. Keller, Creighton; Stephen Hwang, Hong Kong, China; and Charles O. Weaver, Siloam Springs, Ark.

Meet Star Carrier Michael Luce

Michael Luce is the Star Carrier for route X738 in south Lincoln. His route area is from 27th street to 30th, and from Wooddale to Calvert. He is an industrious young man who realizes the importance of good service as his record shows.

The Star was happy to receive several letters from customers as testimonials of the additional efforts that Mike had put forth in promptly delivering his papers during the severe winter storms. His industrious efforts earn him a route profit of $21 per period, part of which he is saving for college.

Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Luce of 3410 So. 31st. He has two brothers and one sister and is the oldest of the four children. This year he is in the eighth grade at Irving Junior High. Mike lists social studies as his favorite subject.

Watching football and baseball take up some of Mike's time. His favorite teams are the Baltimore Colts and the Milwaukee Braves. While on vacation with his family during the summer Mike had an opportunity to see the Braves in action on their home field. This, of course, was a big thrill for him.

Mike's family enjoys doing things together. One of their most interesting weekends was spent at Ponca State Park horseback riding, hiking, and swimming.

G & T May Ask Review Of Line Job

The Nebraska Power Review board will be asked to reopen an application for construction of a 230 kilovolt power line from Ft. Randall to Grand Island if there is "any undue delay" in construction of the west end tie between Gering, Sidney and North Platte, D. A. Blatchford said Friday.

The general manager of the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative (G & T) said, "the public power system of the eastern two-thirds of the state faces a grave service condition if further delays are made in the next high voltage 230 kv interconnection."

"It was over a year ago that G & T filed with the Power Review Board for permission to build the Ft. Randall line. Three agencies favored the west end tie and requested that we, in a spirit of cooperation, agree to go along with them on it," he said.

"Now attempts are being made to delay the approved construction of this line, and in view of the possibility that even further delays may be contemplated, we are compelled to make it known that we cannot stand by without action to meet our critical need for an interconnection," Blatchford said.

There would be no appreciable difference in cost in the substitute line over the west end tie, Blatchford said, "our organization has believed all along that the Ft. Randall line which we proposed was superior to the west end tie, but we are still willing to cooperate on the authorized line if barriers to its early construction are removed."

Loup Undecided About Appeal Of Power Contract

Loup River Public Power District has not yet decided whether it will appeal to the State Supreme Court the Nebraska Power Review Board's decision authorizing Consumers Public Power District to construct a high-voltage transmission line in western Nebraska.

Asst. Gen. Manager Max Kiburz of Columbus said a decision will be made by Loup's board of directors.

The next regularly scheduled board meeting is April 28.

Loup had also applied for authority to construct the 230-kilovolt line from Sidney to North Platte. Motions for a rehearing in the board's decision were denied Thursday, thus clearing the path for possible appeal.

Population Disparity in Remap Bill Scrutinized

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Federal judges Friday raised searching questions about the margin of tolerance which they can allow in judging the population disparities contained in the 1965 legislative reapportionment act.

The new apportionment, contained in LB628 which was passed by the Unicameral and signed by Gov. Frank Morrison, was presented to the three-member federal judicial panel at a hearing in Lincoln. At issue is the question of whether the act meets U.S. constitutional requirements found in the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment.

U.S. District Court Judge Robert Van Pelt of Lincoln noted that 10 districts in the proposed new 50-member Unicameral do not come within 15% of the average district population.

Larger Than Average
The most populous district

is 26.7% larger than the average, Judge Van Pelt pointed out, while the least populous district is 19.7% smaller than the average.

While the U.S. Supreme Court has never suggested what margin of tolerance can be accepted in legislative apportionment, the U.S. House of Representatives is presently proposing a 15% maximum tolerance in its own representation, the judge noted.

U.S. Circuit Court Judge Harvey M. Johnsen of Omaha questioned whether an acceptable margin of tolerance would permit a person in Nebraska's smallest legislative district to have "more than 1 1/2 times the voting power" of a person in the state's largest district.

Population Disparity
The disparity in the new act ranges from a high of 35,757 in Hall County to a low of 22,681 in a Sandhills district composed of seven counties.

Van Pelt also raised questions as to whether western Nebraska has "two more senators than it is entitled to" as compared to eastern Nebraska.

The third member of the tribunal is U.S. District Judge Richard E. Robinson of Omaha.

Friday's hearing produced oral arguments and supplementary evidence in the continuing reapportionment lawsuit filed in 1962. Plaintiffs include a number of mayors and individuals; intervenors are a number of labor union officials, acting as individuals.

The attorney general's office is defending the action of the Legislature.

Increased Size
LB628 increased the Unicameral's size to 50 members, adding two districts to

Opening lead — king of hearts.

The declarer's frame of mind—his approach to the play—has a tremendous amount to do with the success of his efforts.

If he plunges ahead with the blind hope that finesses will work and that suits will break favorably, and makes no provision for the possibility that things may not work out the way he would like them to, he is bound to find himself in hot water from time to time.

What declarer should do is try to shape his play so that he not only accomplishes his purpose if everything goes normally but also accomplishes his purpose if matters develop abnormally.

This hand illustrates the point. South can see that he is certain of making four spades if the diamonds are divided 3-2. All his thoughts should therefore be designed to overcome a 4-1 or 5-0 break, if it exists.

He does this by ruffing the second heart lead, drawing three rounds of trumps, and then playing a diamond to the king. At this point he is certain of making the contract regardless of the adverse distribution.

South no longer cares how the diamonds are divided because he can deal successfully with every possible combination. He assures the contract by leading the A-K and another club.

By now both dummy and declarer each have three diamonds and a trump. The opponent who wins the club will have to return a diamond or else yield a ruff and discard.

In the actual case, it is probably West who wins the club. If he returns the queen or jack of diamonds, declarer ducks and West is end-played. If West returns the nine instead of the queen or jack, declarer likewise plays low from dummy, again being certain of the outcome.

If East is the player with the diamond length and wins the club, he runs into the same dead end. There is no escape.

The guest list includes all the officers and their wives of the 551st Strategic Missile Squadron.

The officers and their wives of the 344th Bombardment Squadron got together last Saturday for a bridge party, and making score for the evening were Capt. and Mrs. Jerry Scott. Second high honors went to Maj. and Mrs. Daniel Snow.

Visiting with Maj. and Mrs. John King for the Easter Holidays is their daughter, Jerry, who is a second year college student at the University of Nebraska's School of Nursing in Omaha.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Herbert Kussman recently returned to LAFB after visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Pete Saroulo at Greenville, Miss.

Capt. and Mrs. Joseph Daniels, Capt. and Mrs. Archie Anz, and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Sergi co-hosted a farewell party for Capt. and Mrs. James Williams.

Invited guests for the evening were Maj. and Capt. C. T. Spangrud, Capt. and Mrs. Eugene Alley, and Capt. and Mrs. Don Simonds.

Capt. and Mrs. John Nelson will have as their guest next week Capt. Nelson's sister, Mrs. Rozanne Nelson, who will be touring the area with the Bethany Lutheran College choir.

Maj. and Mrs. Mark Mullinix have as their holiday houseguest, Mrs. Mullinix's mother, Mrs. Terry Everman, of Mexico, Mo.

Mrs. Duane Weller recently entertained at bridge at her LAFB quarters. Her guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Richard Carver, Mrs. Milton Melland, Mrs. Thomas Boles, Mrs. Robert Hanson, Mrs. George Miller, Mrs. Norman Gates, and Mrs. Darrell Gallenberger. Taking the afternoon honors with the high score was Mrs. Gates, while Mrs. Miller held the second-high score.

Capt. and Mrs. R. J. Hawkins entertained a group of friends at a brunch recently at their LAFB quarters.

Their guests for the party were Maj. and Mrs. William Schwob, Maj. and Mrs. Peter Kraska and their houseguests, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Erickson; Maj. and Mrs. James Kent, Maj. and Mrs. Darrell Gallenberger, and Capt. and Mrs. Paige Nelson.

Club Activity

The members of Altrusa Club of Lincoln will divide into five groups for a series of informal suppers Monday evening.

Miss Betty Jean Yapp is chairman of the arrangements committee, and the five hostesses for the 6 o'clock suppers will be Mrs. Arthur Hagan, 1411 Washington; Miss Rose Wanek, 1947 D; Mrs. Roy Sheaff, 5440 Fairdale Rd.; Miss Willa Mae Ray, 1540 So. 20th; and Mrs. Keith Canfield, 4150 Clifford Dr.

The annual State Day program of Sigma Kappa sorority was held last Sunday at Grand Island.

Among those attending from Lincoln were Mrs. A. J. Whitmer, Mrs. Charles Fowler, Mrs. Jim Simmons and Mrs. David White.

Mrs. Gail Beal of Beatrice was hostess at luncheon recently to Lincoln members of Beta Conclave, Kappa Kappa Iota.

Officers elected were Mrs. Esther Yung, president; Mrs. Beal, vice president; Mrs. Grace Murray, secretary; Mrs. Merna Fahrlander, treasurer.

Camp Fire Train Trip

Camp Fire Girls and their leaders will leave Lincoln early Monday morning for a train trip to Omaha.

The day's program will include tours of Omaha's Ep- play Airport, the Strategic Air Command, the World-Herald plant, and the Union Pacific Museum.

Opening lead — king of hearts.

The declarer's frame of mind—his approach to the play—has a tremendous amount to do with the success of his efforts.

If he plunges ahead with the blind hope that finesse will work and that suits will break favorably, and makes no provision for the possibility that things may not work out the way he would like them to, he is bound to find himself in hot water from time to time.

What declarer should do is try to shape his play so that he not only accomplishes his purpose if everything goes normally but also accomplishes his purpose if matters develop abnormally.

This hand illustrates the point. South can see that he is certain of making four spades if the diamonds are divided 3-2. All his thoughts should therefore be designed to overcome a 4-1 or 5-0 break, if it exists.

He does this by ruffing the second heart lead, drawing three rounds of trumps, and then playing a diamond to the king. At this point he is certain of making the contract regardless of the adverse distribution.

South no longer cares how the diamonds are divided because he can deal successfully with every possible combination. He assures the contract by leading the A-K and another club.

By now both dummy and declarer each have three diamonds and a trump. The opponent who wins the club will have to return a diamond or else yield a ruff and discard.

In the actual case, it is probably West who wins the club. If he returns the queen or jack of diamonds, declarer ducks and West is end-played. If West returns the nine instead of the queen or jack, declarer likewise plays low from dummy, again being certain of the outcome.

If East is the player with the diamond length and wins the club, he runs into the same dead end. There is no escape.

of the town

Tomorrow is the day for sunrise services, Easter parades, and special dinners with the family.

Today, we hope that the feminine members of the family already have their Easter bonnets, and that the young generation has the Easter baskets ready to set out, because tomorrow is the day that the Easter bunny arrives.

We hope too, that the whole family has plans for as enjoyable an Easter Sunday as residents of Suburbia have.

EASTRIDGE

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Kubert have readied their home in expectation of guests from Crete on Easter Sunday. Mrs. Kubert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Brehan are coming to spend the day with their son-in-law and daughter.

MEADOW LANE

Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Kaeline will have a guest in their home the entire Easter weekend. Mrs. Kaeline's mother, Mrs. Beulah Ely, arrived from Grand Island last night for a Friday-to-Sunday stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry E. Dohrman will be in Ballwin, Mo. this holiday.

But it's not just for the weekend, they've gone to stay. They have moved to 404 Bedford in Ballwin from their old address at 1321 W. Avon.

BETHANY PARK HEIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. George Handa are expecting their son Larry Handa to arrive from Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. any moment now. He wrote that he would be home for Easter, and that gives him just about 24 hours to make it.

Tomorrow, the family, including Jack, Jane, Christie—and the visitor will go to North Platte to visit at the home of Mrs. Handa's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Matsutani. They will be joined by the families of Mr. and Mrs. Masa Matsutani and Mr. and Mrs. Kei Matsutani, who are brothers and sisters-in-law of Mrs. Handa.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon L. Kuhn, and their children, Ron, Jan, and Bobby, celebrated an early Easter at Ceresco last Sunday. There were about 25 members of the family present when Mrs. Kuhn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Otto, entertained at supper. This by the way, includes grandchildren.

EASTBOROUGH

Arriving in the Eastborough area just in time for Easter were Mr. and Mrs. William Davey. They formerly resided at 3220 D St. and are now living at 415 Eastborough Lane.

There are more names to add to the Easter weekend guest list this morning—and among them are Dr. and Mrs. James M. Woodward, Jr., and their two children, Steven and Carolyn.

Dr. and Mrs. Woodward, Jr., and their son and daughter arrived from Denver on Thursday evening and are the house guests of Dr. Woodward's parents, Dr. and Mrs. James Mac Woodward.

And expected in town today are Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Loy of Duluth, Minn. who, provided they are able to stem the floods in their path, will be the Easter guests of Mrs. Loy's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Cather, Jr.

Mention of the Cather family reminds us that Myers (Bud) Cather was in town a few days ago. Mr. Cather stopped off in Lincoln for a brief visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. Cather en route to his home in New Canaan, Conn., from California.

BRIDE at chapel service

Miss Nancy Kimmerling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon L. Kimmerling, became the bride of Calvin Schager, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loran A. Schager of Orland, Calif., at a ceremony solemnized Tuesday evening, April 13, in the chapel of Grace Lutheran Church. Dr. Leland Leshner, assisted by the Rev. Roy Benson, read the lines of the 8 o'clock service.

Frocked in champagne lace over satin was Mrs. Gerald McCall, the bride's only attendant.

Larry Schager, Grand Island, served his nephew as best man, and seating the guests were Phillip Kimmerling, Beatrice, cousin of the bride; and her brother, David Kimmerling.

The bride appeared in an after-five gown of sheer organza smoothed over taffeta in traditional white. Floral applique of pearl-embroidered lace trimmed the bodice and was repeated on the diagonally-draped skirt, and her illusion veil was held by a circlet of the silk and jeweled lace.

The couple will reside at Huntington Beach, Calif. Mr. Schager is serving with the Navy, and the bride, a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority and Kappa Delta Pi honor society, is a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University.

DEAR ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Why are parents considered selfish and inconsiderate when they refuse to burden themselves with debts in order to give an elaborate wedding reception for their daughter?

We have always lived within our means and are willing to give her a reception that will not necessitate floating a loan, but she is not satisfied with the kind of reception we can afford. Her father makes less than $7000 a year and there are younger children to educate. I would appreciate your views on this.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Sensible people do not spend more than they can afford on anything. And that includes wedding receptions. You need not apologize to anyone for refusing to go into debt.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married twice. My first husband showered me with love, but he seldom worked, and we lived on what I earned, plus borrowed money, for six years. All I got from him were three kids, a stack of bills and more loving than I wanted. My second husband is up there in years. He works hard and doesn't bother me with any loving at all. I am only 26, but I think I am in a position to tell other women that all that love stuff is way overrated, and if I never get any more than a goodnight kiss on the cheek I will be satisfied. You hear and read so much about "love" that I wish you would print this for girls who think they have to have a man.

SATISFIED

DEAR SATISFIED: You are confusing "love" with sexual fulfillment. Many people live contentedly without the latter—but life is empty and meaningless without "love."

First Lincoln Team Leaves For WIBC

The first Lincoln team to bowl in this year's Women's International Bowling Congress Tournament at Portland, Ore., left by plane Friday morning.

The Garcia-Damian team of the Non-Max League at Hollywood Bowl will roll as a team at 7 p.m. Saturday and will bowl in doubles and singles at 10 a.m. Sunday.

The team currently stands in sixth place in the Nebraska State Ladies Bowling Tournament at McCook. Team members with averages are Ginny Engel 164, Carol French 171, Clara Walker 162, Betty Spencer 167 and Phyllis Fastabend 157.

A sixth bowler, Virginia Kenyon with a 161 average is also making the trip to bowl in singles and doubles. She will bowl with Betty Spencer in doubles.

Ginny Engel and Carol French will bowl in doubles with Clara Walker and Phyllis Fastabend teaming for the third doubles unit.

Houston Golf Classic In Two-Way Tie

Houston (P) — Billy Martindale, a former national skeet shoot champion, put together six birdies and one bogey Friday for a 66 that permitted him to catch Bert Yancey, the first round leader, and share the lead of the $55,000 Houston Golf Classic at the half-way mark at seven-under-par 135.

The 26-year-old Martindale blazed away with a hot putter to put the 66 beside a 69 as Yancey rallied to retain his tie with birdies on two of the last five holes for a 65-70-135.

Yancey, a 27, a Florida native playing out of Philadelphia, was in the fourth from the last threesome and did not pull into the tie until he sank a two-foot birdie putt on the final green. "It was a very rewarding shot," Yancey said. "It makes you feel better to birdie the last hole."

Until Yancey's tie-clincher, it appeared he would share the runnerup spot behind Martindale with Bobby Nichols, the 1964 PGA champion who graduated from Texas A&M in 1958, three years ahead of Martindale.

Nichols missed a share of the lead when he three-putted the final green from 35 feet for a 67-69-136 on the 7,233-yard, par 35-36-71 Sharpstown Country Club course.

Tied at 137 were Bruce Devlin, the Australian who set a Sharpstown competitive course record with a 63 pro-am score Wednesday, and Don January, a Dallas, Tex., pro. Devlin had a 68-69, January a 71-66.

A two-over-par 144 score was needed as the field of 138 pros and four amateurs was cut to 71 pros for the final 36 holes.

Victims of the cutoff included Jack Burke Jr., the 1952 and 1959 Classic champion, Henry Ransom and Jimmy Demaret.

Ransom, who coached Nichols and Martindale at A&M, was eliminated with a 74-71-145.

Martindale was quite pleased with his putting. "Overall, my putting was exceptional," he said.

A skeet champion at the age of 12, Martindale later became a schoolboy football quarterback at Jacksonville, Tex., but turned to golf as a career after being offered a scholarship at Texas A&M.

He joined the tour on a regular basis in late 1963. He still is seeking his first title but has won $9,414.12 in total money this year, including a third place tie at Pensacola.

Martindale hit all 18 greens and used 31 putts. He lost to par only by three-putting from 40 feet on the 207-yard, par 3 thirteenth hole. He got his birdies with putts of 15, 2, 10, 8, 20 and six feet.

NU THINCS REDS QUALIFY

Husker Relay Clubs In Finals

... IN KANSAS RELAYS

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Writer

Lawrence, Kansas—Nebraska's 880-yard relay team set a school record in that event here Friday afternoon to lead three Husker relay teams into today's finals of the 40th Annual Kansas Relays.

The Husker quartet of Tom Milsap, Dick Strand, Lynn Headley and Charlie Greene ran the half mile baton event in 1:24.7, five-tenths of a second better than the NU standard set in 1958 by Tom Hodgson, Keith Young, Dick Jahr and Keith Gardner.

However, even the record time was not good enough to win their heat and the substandard performance was needed to qualify for the finals of the event. Greene, running the anchor lap, barely beat out defending champion Southern Methodist for one of the two qualifying spots in the heat.

Kansas won the heat with a 1:24.6 clocking and Oklahoma turned in 1:24.3 to win the second heat, sending three Big Eight teams into the finals this afternoon.

NU coach Frank Sevine gave Lynn Headley, the Olympic sprinter from Jamaica, a large share of the credit for the NU school record.

The Husker coach clocked Milsap's opening leg in :21.5 and caught Greene in :21.5 for the anchor with Strand running a :22.0. Although, Sevine failed to get a clocking on Headley, this means he would have had to run a :19.7. "I doubt that he ran quite that fast," Sevine observed. "But he did run a tremendous 220 and it was probably close to that figure."

The times turned in by Nebraska, Oklahoma and Kansas in the 880 relays were easily the best by Big Eight schools this season. The best previous time by a conference team was 1:26.8 by Oklahoma State at the Texas Relays two weeks ago.

Nebraska also qualified teams for the finals of the 440-yard relay and the mile relay in Friday's preliminaries.

The Cornhusker team of Milsap, Ray Harvey, Headley and Greene posted a :41.1 in the 440, winning their heat by one-tenth of a second over New Mexico and Texas A & M.

All three qualifying times in the first heat were better than the winning time in the second heat where Kansas won with a :41.3 and Missouri qualified for the finals with a :41.5 for third.

Harvey was subbing for Dave Crook in the quarter mile relay with Sevine saving his crack 440 man for the mile relay, a neat bit of strategy as that event unfolded.

Crook trailed Drake and Baylor as he took the baton from Dick Strand in their heat of the mile relay with only the first two finishers qualifying for the finals.

The Bellevue junior passed the Drake anchorman on the first curve and overtook Baylor in the back stretch. However, as they came down the stretch, Crook had to fight off the challenge from both Drake and Baylor at the wire.

Crook and Drake's Karl Bandemer hit the tape in a near dead heat with the Baylor runner a couple strides back. Both teams were timed in 3:13.3, the best qualifying time of the three heats. Oklahoma State qualified with a second place in the first heat and Kansas State also qualified by finishing second in the third heat.

Nebraska's sprint medley relay team finished fifth with a 3:29.4, well behind the winning 3:20.3 posted by Abilene Christian.

Casey Most Amazin' Met Of All; Spahn Runs 2nd

WARREN CALLS CASEY A MARVEL

New York (P)—They call them the Amazin' Mets. But everybody knows the only thing really amazin' about them is their manager.

Warren Spahn hasn't been around the club very long but there's no doubt in his mind who is the most amazin' Met of them all.

"I knew Casey Stengel years ago," said the pitcher-coach. "More than 20, in fact. I was just a green kid then trying to make good. Casey was my first big league manager, you know. But I was too young to understand him then."

"Now, that I've become associated with him, I can understand why he's become an image. Why he's so beloved. Why he's the greatest ambassador the game has ever known."

"That man is a marvel. He's unbelievable. I don't care how old he is. He's got all those young fellows beat a mile."

"I've never seen a more understanding person. Or a more dedicated baseball man."

"Sure, he's a comedian. Sure he double talks. But he's plenty deep. And nobody knows more about this game. If you listen to him carefully, and concentrate on what he's telling you, you can learn plenty. A fellow can get an education just being around him."

This comes from one who has won 356 games in 19 years and experienced 13 seasons winning 20 or more. Casey is the only one who is amazin'.

At 44, Spahn is the oldest major leaguer practicing his trade. He's also taken on the additional chores of pitching coach.

"Casey's been good to me, in that respect, too," said the indestructible left-hander. "He lets me run the pitchers and he's never second guessed me. He doesn't tell you 'you have to do this,' or 'do it that way. He leaves you on your own initiative. If you can't do it, then he takes over."

"Some of his know-how has rubbed off on our kids. We have 18 and 19-year olds on our club who know more about the inside baseball than guys five or six years older on other clubs."

Reds Blast Whites 61-8 In Scrimmage

... WILSON, THORELL EACH SCORE TWICE

The Reds, heavily stocked with returnees from last season's Cotton Bowl team, whipped the Whites, 61-8, as the Nebraska football squad wrapped up the pre-Easter portion of its spring practice Friday.

The Reds' first unit, with Bob Churchich at the controls, scored on its first play from scrimmage as Churchich connected with halfback Harry Wilson on a 60-yard scoring pass.

Despite gusty winds the aerial game was generally effective and six of the day's ten touchdowns came on passes.

Larry Wachholtz, a defensive specialist last season, showed offensive capabilities as well Friday as he threw scoring passes to Bill Haug and Ron Kirkland.

Other Red quarterbacks getting into the touchdown act were Wayne Weber, who connected with Larry Casey, and Bert Fortuna, who hit Tom Smith.

The longest strike of the day, however, was from the arm of White quarterback Dennis Morrison. The Omaha North freshman lofted a 65-yard scoring pass to end John Elifson for the only touchdown by the freshman-dominated White squad.

Wilson and Dennis Thorell, left halfback on Weber's Red unit, each tallied twice.

Wilson added a 40-yard touchdown run to his 60-yard reception.

Thorell broke loose for a 60-yard touchdown run and later slammed over from a yard out. The only other tally came as Fortuna pushed across from two yards.

Devaney noted that each of the quarterbacks had some good moments, but that all showed inconsistency.

Ernie Sigler wasn't able to lead his White team to a touchdown, but he hooked up on several occasions with end Dennis Richnafsky for gains against the top two Red units. Al Fierro, another rookie quarterback candidate, hit three of three passes for 44 yards in one series, but the White drive against the Wachholtz unit was stopped by a fumble.

Up front the top performers in the Friday scrimmage included Walt Barnes, Lynn Senkbeil, LaVerne Allers, Roger Kudrna and Ivan Zimmerman.

By the time that the grid-ers report back a week from Sunday, the coaching staff will have new alignments with more definite commitments to offensive and defensive units. All eight teams went both ways Friday.

"After we see the films of today's scrimmage I think we'll be able to break down our top 44 or 66 players into offensive and defensive teams," Devaney explained.

There will be two weeks of drills remaining when the squad returns from its Easter vacation.

Huskers Split Pair

Boulder, Colo. — Lefthander Bob Hergenrader nifty 3-hit pitching enabled Nebraska to salvage a split of Friday's Big Eight doubleheader with Colorado as the Cornhuskers rebounded 4-2 after dropping the opener 3-2.

Hergenrader, using a good fastball effectively, was untouchable through the first five innings as he didn't yield a base hit. Colorado's first blow was a line double to left by catcher Don Sessions with one out in the sixth.

The Huskers, meanwhile, carried a 2-1 lead into the late innings, scoring in the first on singles by second baseman Randy Harris and first baseman Rick Brenning, sandwiched around a fielders choice, and taking the lead in the third on singles by rightfielder Frank Solich, catcher Larry Borschlegl, and Brenning.

The Cornhuskers iced it on a 2-run double by Harris in the seventh.

Colorado scored a run without a hit in the first on a walk, error, and double steal and added another with a pair of hits and a walk in the seventh.

The Buffaloes' Jim Lafoe out-duelled Nebraska sophomore Stan Bahnsen in a good

Sox Set For Home Game

... MONBOUQUETTE TO START

The 1965 major league baseball season winds up its first week with a full schedule Saturday including a home opener in Boston.

Bill Monbouquette, who pitched the first game for the Red Sox, a 7-2 victory at Washington Monday, has been given the honor of working in the season inaugural at Fenway Park against the Baltimore Orioles.

In other American League games, Washington plays at Chicago, Cleveland at Minnesota, New York at Kansas City and Detroit at Los Angeles.

In the National League, San Francisco opens a three-game series at New York, Houston is at Pittsburgh, Chicago at Milwaukee, Cincinnati at St. Louis and Los Angeles at Philadelphia.

There were no games scheduled in either league Friday.

The opener at Boston will have added significance. Rob in Roberts, the veteran Oriole right-hander, will be seeking his 272nd lifetime victory. The 38-year-old former Whiz Kid is the only active major leaguer within striking distance of 300 victories.

Missouri Hits Sooners For Twinbill Wins

Columbia, Mo. (P)—Missouri assaulted Oklahoma with 23 hits Friday and beat the Sooners 10-2 and 12-1 in a Big Eight baseball doubleheader.

The Tiger's victories pulled the defending champions up to a 2-2 record and Oklahoma dropped to 1-4.

Bob Robben got seven of the Missouri hits in eight times at bat, banging out two home runs, two doubles and three singles and batting in six runs.

Gals Track Meet Moved To May 15

Seward — The Midwestern AAU High School and Open Girls' Track and Field Championships have been moved from May 1 to May 15.

The May 15 meet, sponsored by The Seward Jaycees, will be held at the Concordia College Track in Seward.

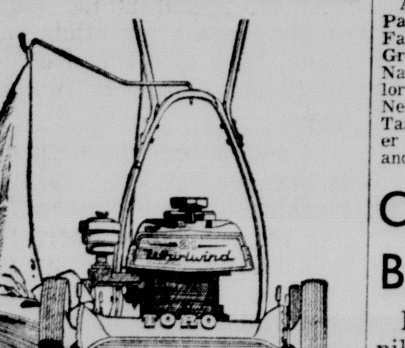

The high school division will include girls 14-18. This is the first year there have been two divisions. The open division will be for college girls, track clubs, and unattached athletes.

Leitner Honored On All-Star Team

New York (P)—McCook's Roger Leitner was the only Nebraska on the honor roll of the all-America high school basketball squad named Friday by Scholastic Magazine.

Heading the list of all-stars was 7-1 Lew Alcindor of New York City's Power Memorial Academy, named on the squad for the third straight year.

He is the tallest player ever selected and the squad's average height (6-5½) is also the greatest in history.

Only nine pitchers have registered 300 or more victories in the big leagues. Early Wynn was the last to achieve that distinction. He finished in 1963 with an even 300.

Half of the 20 probable pitching selections for Saturday will be making their second starts of the season. Don Drysdale of the Dodgers, Bob Veale of the Pirates, Chris Short of the Phillies, Tony Cloninger of the Braves and Monbouquette won their initial starts. The losers were Juan Marichal of the Giants, Jim O'Toole of the Reds, Phil Ortega of the Senators, Fred Newman of the Angels and Bob Bruce of the Astros.

In addition to the Red Sox, five clubs still have to stage their home openers. The Dodgers and Giants do it next Tuesday, while the Yankees, Tigers and Indians will get under way on home soil the following day.

Rights Pickets Return After Lodging Protest

Bogalusa, La. (AP)—Negro leaders accused police of failing to control a mounting campaign of insult and harassment against civil rights pickets Friday.

The Negro pickets were pulled from downtown stores in late afternoon. They regrouped and returned after a formal complaint was filed with city officials.

A Z. Young, 43, president of the Negro League, conferred privately with mayor J. H. Cutrer at city hall.

Not Enforced

Young said he complained that the city ordinance forbidding unnecessarily loud, offensive, insulting language was not enforced against the whites.

He said even some city policemen joined bystanders in jeering Negro pickets or making loud, contemptuous remarks. He said Cutrer told him an investigation would be made.

Police Chief Claxton Knight said a full investigation of the Negro complaint against police showed all reports were negative.

FBI Watched

"We had 30 officers along that one block throughout the day," he said. "In addition, there were some state police and the FBI was observing."

Although some city patrolmen plainly chafed under their responsibility, some were stern with potential trouble-makers.

One told a white man who blocked a sidewalk, "I don't care if you're green, I got my orders." When the white man had asked why the officer didn't jump on the Negroes, the policeman replied, "Because they're keeping their mouth shut."

April 23 Deadline For Registering To Vote In City

Eligible persons who have not yet registered to vote in the May 4 city general election may register until the deadline, 5 p.m. Friday, April 23, according to the election commissioner's office.

Persons may register Saturday from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Gateway shopping center auditorium lobby.

The Gateway office will also be open next Thursday from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., and on Friday, from 8 a.m. to the 5 p.m. deadline.

The downtown office at 10th and O will be open daily from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m., and from 7 to 9 p.m. next Thursday and until 5 p.m. on Friday.

Election Commissioner Betty Jeanne Holcomb noted that 30,024 out of over 70,000 registered voters turned out for the primary election April 6.

Pat Ash Suit Is Charged Against Hastings Woman

Pat Ash filed a $100,000 damage suit in Lancaster District Court Friday against a Hastings woman in connection with an Oct. 26, 1962, two-car collision.

Ash alleges negligence on the part of the defendant, Jean Watson, formerly Jean Bohlen, when the car she was driving struck the rear of his vehicle which was allegedly stopped for traffic at 48th and O.

Seoul Police, Students Spat

Seoul (UPI)—An estimated 6,500 students demonstrators battled police in the fourth straight day of rioting in the South Korean capital.

The government rushed three battalions of combat troops into the city in an attempt to quell the violent disturbances.

The riots were sparked by government attempts to normalize Japanese-Korean relations.

Charlie Chaplin's Brother Is Dead

Nice, France (UPI)—Sydney Chaplin, who gave his younger brother Charlie his first suit of new clothes and helped him launch his stage career, died Friday. He was 80.

Death was attributed to an apparent heart attack following a long illness. His brother, Charlie, and the latter's wife, Oona, broke off an Ireland vacation and flew to Nice.

U.S. TOLD TO SHUT TAHITI CONSULATE

Paris (UPI)—France ordered the U.S. to close its consulate on the South Pacific island of Tahiti. It was the latest move in a Franco-American "little cold war" in the Pacific.

Tahiti is headquarters for France's future H-bombing testing and it is believed the French are reluctant to have too many Americans in the area.

K. H. Wright, 21, Still 'Critical'

Kenneth H. Wright, 21, of 744 Marshall, remained in critical condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital as the result of injuries he received when he fell from a car near 48th and Van Dorn Friday morning.

Wright was a passenger in a northbound car driven by 20-year-old Craig S. Wenzel, of the Lincoln Air Force Base.

Death was attributed to an apparent heart attack following a long illness. His brother, Charlie, and the latter's wife, Oona, broke off an Ireland vacation and flew to Nice.

US. TOLD TO SHUT TAHITI CONSULATE

Paris (UPI)—France ordered the U.S. to close its consulate on the South Pacific island of Tahiti. It was the latest move in a Franco-American "little cold war" in the Pacific.

Tahiti is headquarters for France's future H-bombing testing and it is believed the French are reluctant to have too many Americans in the area.

K. H. Wright, 21, Still 'Critical'

Kenneth H. Wright, 21, of 744 Marshall, remained in critical colition at Bryan Memorial Hospital as the result of injuries he received when he fell from a car near 48th and Van Dorn Friday morning.

Wright was a passenger in a northbound car driven by 20-year-old Craig S. Wenzell, of the Lincoln Air Force Base.

Regents Accept Policy

... NU GREEK EQUALITY TO BE IMPLEMENTED

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Policy statements passed by the Interfraternity Council and the Panhellenic Council relating to equal opportunity for all students were accepted by the University of Nebraska Board of Regents at their Friday meeting.

The Regents authorized the vice chancellor for student affairs, G. Robert Ross, to implement the policy statements "by obtaining from each national fraternity information regarding discriminatory requirements, statements, clauses, rituals or practices and by continuing to work with NU students in the fraternity for the elimination of any remaining discriminatory practices and attitudes."

A progress report is to be made to the Regents as soon as possible.

In other action the Regents:

—Approved the implementation of the April 7 Legislative Resolution No. 33 that the Curtis School "be phased out as a high school effective at the end of the academic year May, 1968, and that the program for technical agriculture as a post-high school program be inaugurated as early as practicable."

It was also decided that a letter stating this intent be sent to Curtis' leading citizens with the promise of assistance in developing a public high school at Curtis.

The Regents also:

—Authorized Chancellor Clifford Hardin and Regents Chairman Val Peterson to visit Bogota, Columbia, at the invitation of Colombian officials seeking assistance in setting up a graduate program in agriculture there.

—Approved contracts for several projects including cabinets with sinks and plumb-ing fixtures for a chemistry laboratory installation in the 501 Building, Pigott, Inc., Des Moines, Iowa, $50,376; And okayed:

—Videotape recorder with electronic editing, to be purchased with grants funds from the Great Plains TV Library for KUON-TV, Ampex Corporation, Redwood City, Calif., $39,000.

—Chiller installation for the East Campus, Natkin & Co., Lincoln, $86,000;

—Central chilled water plant expansion and chiller installation at the College of Medicine, Natkin & Co., Omaha, $96,300;

—Incinerator for disposing of diseased or experimental animals on East Campus, Plibrico Sales Co., Omaha, $16,222.

37 Years With NU Will End For Dr. Lowe

Dr. Clarence G. Lowe, University of Nebraska professor of classics emeritus and former chairman of the department of classics, will retire July 1 after 37 years at NU, it was learned at the Board of Regents meeting here Friday.

A native of Columbus, Ind., Lowe received his B.A. from Franklin (Ind.) College in 1919, his M.A. in 1921 and Ph.D. in 1925 from the University of Illinois.

For a year Lowe instructed at Yale University, and then taught at Washington University for two years. He joined the University of Nebraska staff in 1927 and became a full professor and chairman of the classics department in 1928.

Lowe remained at the University as professor and chairman until 1959 when he retired from administrative duties except for a six-year interval, 1931-37, when he served as librarian of the Gennepian, American School of Classical Studies in Athens, Greece.

The retiring professor has been a member of the American Philological Association, Classical Association of the Middle West and South, Archaeological Institute of America, Medieval Academy of America, and American Inter-professional Institute.

Dr. Olson Gets Grad College Job

University of Nebraska Board of Regents Friday named Dr. James C. Olson director of graduate program development and associate dean of the graduate college at their meeting here.

Also at the meeting, Dr. James T. Horner was designated by the Regents chairman of the department of agricultural education, succeeding Dr. Howard Deems.

Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin said, "We hope to utilize Dr. Olson's special talents in planning for significant developments in the social sciences and humanities in graduate education programs."

Dr. Olson has written several books including one on "J. Sterling Morton" and a "History of Nebraska."

He also contributed to the seven-volume official history of the Army Air Forces in World War II.

Horner joined the University staff as an assistant professor and became an associate professor in 1963 teaching vocational education.

NU Regents also approved the additional assignment of Robert Lee Hough, professor of English, to be assistant dean in place of Walter F. Wright.

In other personnel actions, the Regents made 13 full-time appointments and 22 part-time and-or temporary appointments, and accepted 15 resignations and three leaves of absence.

Full-time appointments include:

Dr. Richard W. Tyler, professor of Romance languages; Dr. Alan Brown, associate professor of educational administration; Pete Boughn, director of public relations at the College of Medicine; Dr. J. Crockett, associate professor of sociology; Dr. Emmanuel John Mickel, assistant professor of Romance languages; Mrs. Fredricka L. Hildebrand, assistant in home economics; Mary L. Gorman, extension assistant in Romance languages; Nelson T. Potter, instructor in philosophy; Richard J. Randall, assistant professor of political science; Jeannette C. Kenney, assistant professor of medical-surgical nursing; John Van Ode, instructor-superior in industrial arts; Richard A. Hadley, assistant professor of pediatrics.

Resignations include:

Ralph O. Olesman, assistant professor of speech pathology; Herbert S. Gochberg, associate professor of Romance languages; George H. Kutzrock, associate professor of speech and audiology; John C. Loehlin, assistant professor of psychology; Marion Gacki, instructor in industrial arts; Joan L. Catherwood, instructor in psychology; Albert E. Freed, associate in internal medicine; Evelyn L. Grimm, instructor in history and philosophy of education; Louise Ann Harvey, extension assistant in home economics; Robert L. Johns, instructor in Romance languages; David L. Kutsch, assistant instructor in internal medicine; Daniel C. Marciano, visiting instructor in Romance languages; Pracha Pises, assistant professor of internal medicine; Leroy T. Othman, clinical associate in general practice.

FRENCH GROUP TOURS HALLAM POWER PLANT
Seven French officials representing the French equivalent of America's Atomic Energy Commission toured the Consumers Public Power District's Sheldon Station power plant at Hallam Friday.

The Frenchmen are interested in the use of liquid metal as a coolant in nuclear reactors. The CPPD uses a liquid metal sodium, as a heat transferring agent.

The Sheldon station atomic reactor has been shut down for several months after leaks developed in some of the graphite moderator elements.

Regents Correct 'Error' On Per-Student Costs

University of Nebraska Regents moved Friday to correct what they described as erroneous public pronouncements on the cost of educating students at the school.

In a statement, Regents said the cost per full-time student last year was $642.38 for undergraduates and "there is no reason to believe that this average has increased since that time."

For all students — undergraduate, graduate and professional—the cost was $886.72 per year, the statement said.

Average
The latter figure includes an average cost for students in professional colleges of $2,306.99 per year.

The figures include overhead costs, an appropriate prororation of administrative and general expenses and libraries and cost of maintaining the physical plant, but do not include capital construction outlays, the statement said.

The figures were in contradiction to those reported recently by Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, legislative Budget Committee chairman, who said a study had shown it costs some $2,000 a year to educate a University student.

The figure was put out in connection with discussion of the Budget Committee's recommendation that tuition charges be increased at the University.

Regents said they had not seen the analysis used in arriving "at the figure quoted in the press."

Composite
"It is assumed that this figure is a composite which does not differentiate among undergraduate, graduate, dental or medical students," the statement said.

"The tuition comparison, moreover, does not reflect the fact that dental and medical students pay tuition that is substantially higher than undergraduate and graduate college students."

Regents also said the quoted figure presumably includes "substantial amounts which usually are considered costs for special services, rather than costs for teaching; for example, the cost of operating the University Hospital in Omaha."

The statement also challenged inclusion of capital outlay for facilities which will have useful lives of 50 to 100 years.

Scots Want Subs Out
Rothsay, Isle of Bute, Scotland (AP)—The Scottish Trade Union Congress, representing 600,000 workers, at its annual conference demanded removal of the U.S. Polaris submarine base in the nearby Holy Loch.

N.D. Power Purchases To Be Eyed

Nebraska power officials will meet here Tuesday to discuss the possibility of purchasing energy from North Dakota's power-rich lignite coal fields.

Representatives of the Basin Electric cooperative of Bismarck, N.D., will be present.

It has been proposed that Nebraska buy low-cost power from Basin Electric. But some officials feel the cost of bringing it into the state would be prohibitive because of the distance involved.

The power would be transported over U.S. Bureau of Reclamation transmission lines.

On another power front, the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative, Inc., (G & T) said it will ask to reopen the hearing on an application for a 230-kilovolt line from Fort Randall, S.D., to Grand Island if there is "any undue delay" in building a western line.

D. A. Blatchford, G & T general manager, said: "The public power system of the eastern two-thirds of Nebraska faces a grave service condition if further delays are made in the next high voltage 230-kilovolt connection."

The State Power Review Board Thursday overruled two motions to rehear the Consumers Public Power District application to build a line from Sidney to North Platte.

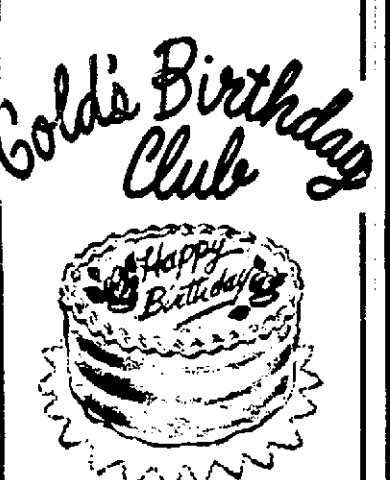

The motions were filed by the Loup River Public Power District and the Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District.

Political Party Is Organized At NU

Adoption of a new student government at the University of Nebraska has prompted the formation of the school's first active student political party.

Called Vox Populi, a Latin phrase meaning "voice of the people," the party is headed by Mike Gottschalk of Rushville.

The new form of student government uses legislative, executive and judicial branches, in the manner of state and federal governments.

N.D. Power Purchases To Be Eyed

Nebraska power officials will meet here Tuesday to discuss the possibility of purchasing energy from North Dakota's power-rich lignite coal fields.

Representatives of the Basin Electric cooperative of Bismarck, N.D., will be present.

It has been proposed that Nebraska buy low-cost power from Basin Electric. But some officials feel the cost of bringing it into the state would be prohibitive because of the distance involved.

The power would be transported over U.S. Bureau of Reclamation transmission lines.

On another power front, the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative, Inc., (G & T) said it will ask to reopen the hearing on an application for a 230-kilovolt line from Fort Randall, S.D., to Grand Island if there is "any undue delay" in building a western line.

D. A. Blatchford, G & T general manager, said: "The public power system of the eastern two-thirds of Nebraska faces a grave service condition if further delays are made in the next high voltage 230-kilovolt connection."

The State Power Review Board Thursday overruled two motions to rehear the Consumers Public Power District application to build a line from Sidney to North Platte.

The motions were filed by the Loup River Public Power District and the Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District.

Political Party Is Organized At NU

Adoption of a new student government at the University of Nebraska has prompted the formation of the school's first active student political party.

Called Vox Populi, a Latin phrase meaning "voice of the people," the party is headed by Mike Gottschalk of Rushville.

The new form of student government uses legislative, executive and judicial branches, in the manner of state and federal governments.
